Oklahoma City Makes
Charge For Street
Parking

Oklahoma City, Okla., is the first city in the United States to charge its citizens a fee for parking on the streets. Parking matters like that shown here are being installed at 20 foot intervals throughout the downtown section. A nickel in the slot, allowing the motorist to park for time specified on the meter, raises a red indicator which drops when allotted time expires.

PA NEWS
OBSERVES

No new detours are listed on the local district, according to the bulletin of the state highway system, for the period ending July 18. The bulletin is kept posted in the lobby of The News.

There is a strong sentiment of resentment against the state administration throughout the entire Shenango Valley over the dismissal of Ralph J. Ferris as resident engineer of the Pymatuning dam. Mr. Ferris has been on the job for nearly 20 years, is the one authority in the entire state on the Pymatuning and his summary dismissal is not believed one that is just nor called for.

The old-fashioned slow moving hay wagon is being replaced by auto trucks. Pa News noted a couple trucks loaded down with hay moving through the streets at a 25 to 30 miles per hour clip, recently. The trucks seemed to have no difficulty in keeping the huge loads of hay from swaying or overturning.

Fire alarm boxes in the city are being given a fresh coat of red paint. A new wrinkle is also in evidence. A diagonal white line is being painted on the sides. This makes the boxes visible quickly from a greater distance.

At the Mercer street terminus of Sheridan avenue, a barricade has been erected recently. This should aid drivers who are unfamiliar with the highways at this junction.

Most of Lawrence County's wheat crop has been cut and shocked in the fields. Numerous fields of oats look like they will soon be ready for harvesting.

As late as six o'clock last night, few persons in New Castle would have hazarded a guess that they would be able to see the eclipse of the moon later in the evening. It was raining at that time, and the sky was completely clouded over. The rain ceased later, however, and the sky cleared so that the moon's eclipse was in full view.

Farmers inform Pa News that the rain of Monday, late in the afternoon, was a most welcome down-pour. Crops were greatly benefited.

Street department employees will have to give attention to the concrete paving on Wallace avenue. Cracks appearing in the paving need an application of tar, in order to prevent the paving being badly damaged.

Court Again Hits New Deal In Tax Decree

A. A. A. Processing Tax Unconstitutional Decision Is Heavy Blow

ADMINISTRATION IS NOT SURPRISED

Succession Of Judicial Body Blows Given New Deal Policies

By GEORGE R. HOLMES
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, July 16.—Already staggering under a succession of judicial body blows, the New Deal was hit squarely in the solar plexus today by the Circuit Court of Appeals decision at Boston that the A. A. A. processing tax on cotton is unconstitutional.

The decision was not wholly unexpected since the Supreme Court knocked out the NRA, and the government will take a prompt appeal when the high court reconvenes in October for the new term. Meanwhile, every effort will be made to continue collection of processing taxes in all districts except that immediately affected by the Boston decision. In the Boston case, the taxes under the injunction will be paid into the court to be held in escrow pending a final decision by the Supreme Court, according to Department of Justice and A. A. A. officials.

Administration Not Surprised
The administration was rather prepared for the adverse decision by the Court of Appeals. Since the NRA decision, few of the government's legal luminaries have believed privately that the A. A. A. will stand the test of constitutionality. The language of the court in defining interstate commerce and congressional powers in relation thereto in the NRA case was

Declares Buying Of Votes Impends

New York Republican Chairman Says Funds To Be Used In Election

ALBANY, N. Y., July 16.—Declaring that the greatest threat to Republican success this fall is "the impending dumping of federal and state funds into doubtful counties," Melvin C. Eaton, state Republican chairman, today warned his party that "vote buying is contemplated."

In a statement before a joint meeting of the Republican state committee and the campaign committee, Eaton asserted:
"In my judgment the greatest threat to Republican success this fall is the impending dumping of federal and state funds into doubtful counties."
"We had a sample of use of federal relief and public works funds to control elections last November, when millions of dollars were poured into Michigan, Ohio, New Mexico, Maine and other doubtful states in an effort to elect Democrats, or to defeat Democrats who opposed Roosevelt policies."
"The experience gained by the administration this year in the gentle science of buying elections will, I feel confident, be utilized in this state between now and next November."

More Playgrounds To Open Wednesday

Authorization for the city recreational program was received today by the local relief office and the playgrounds open Wednesday morning, July 17, according to S. Elmer Patterson. The school recreational project has been under way for several weeks.
Centers will be established at the following places: Gaston Park, Cascade Park, Hanna and Ralph avenue and the West Side. At each playground there will be an instructor in charge with an athletic supervisor in general charge. The athletic supervisor will have charge of all athletics both in the school and city projects and the art supervisor of the school projects will have charge of the art work in the city and school projects.
The playgrounds will be open five days per week from 10 to 12 in the morning and from 1 to 5 in the afternoon, with the exception of the Cascade Park project which will be open from 12 to 6.

OLD POST OFFICE MAY BE W.P.A. HEADQUARTERS

While the headquarters offices for Director J. Vale Downie of the Works Progress Administration have not been announced as yet, there is a possibility that the old post office on North Mercer street may be utilized. The idea was suggested by The News some weeks ago and it was learned today that it was being given serious consideration.
The offices must be located in a building which is rent free, it is said. There would hardly be room for the director and his staff in the relief building on South Mill street and the old post office offers an ideal location. Not only would there be plenty of floor space but there is ample parking space outside.

At the same time the appointment of Bernard J. Cochran as director of District 12, comprising Erie, Warren, Crawford, Venango, Forest and Clarion counties was announced.

SEES HIS WIFE SWEPT TO DEATH

(International News Service)
ATLANTIC BEACH, N. Y., July 16.—Battered by heavy seas, Willie Ulrich, 45-year-old plumber of South Jamaica, clung helplessly to the side of a rock jetty here last night and watched his wife, Johanna, 43, swept away to her death.
More than four hours after Mrs. Ulrich perished, coast-guard men found the husband, waist-deep in water, still clinging feebly to the jetty and almost exhausted by the physical and mental torture of the tragic ordeal.

Damage Of $250 Results From Freak Bolt During Electric Storm Last Evening

WEST SIDE HOME IS ALSO STRUCK

During the electric storm which swept over the city early last evening, a bolt of lightning hit the chimney atop the home of Mrs. Anna O. Benson, of 908 Dewey avenue, knocking the top off the chimney and tearing a gaping hole in the roof. The damage amounted to around $250.

Mrs. Benson and her daughter Mary, were seated at the dinner table when the bolt struck but did not feel any shock of the bolt and were unaware that their home had been struck until they noticed the bricks flying.

City firemen were called but no fire followed the damage from the bolt.
Bricks were hurled in every direction by the blast, one brick being thrown over the house next door and through an attic window of the home of Robert Sheehy.
Lightning also struck the home of William Cast, of 35 Bluff street, knocking a few slates off the roof and causing damage of around $10. Firemen were called to the scene by an alarm from Box 611, but no fire resulted in this instance, either.

HUNDRED THOUSAND MORE ITALIAN TROOPS WILL BE MOBILIZED

By GUGLIELMO EMANUEL
International News Service Staff Correspondent

ROME, July 16.—Premier Benito Mussolini plans to mobilize at least 100,000 more troops for action in East Africa, it was reported on reliable authority today.

With the 200,000 already mobilized, 30,000 of which were called to the colors only yesterday, this would bring the Italian fighting force up to the 300,000 mark—a figure given in high military circles as the "absolute minimum" for a war against the Ethiopians in their home territory.

180,000 More May Go

It was reported not unlikely that Premier Mussolini would defer firing of the opening gun until he has 380,000 soldiers in the Colonia ready to march against Ethiopia. This would mean approximately 180,000 more men will have to be drained out of Italy.

No indication was given as to when the new troops would be called to the colors. In the event of success of diplomatic negotiations now going on to avert the threatened war, the Duke of course would cancel mobilization orders he is now planning.

Aged Pair Flee Corry

MR. AND MRS. JULIUS SWEITZER

Julius Sweitzer, 60, and his 86-year-old bride, the former Mrs. Mary King, of Corry, Pa., are shown at Erie following their flight from Corry where a crowd of 700 residents threatened to tar-and-feather them following their marriage because of Sweitzer's alleged attentions to aged widows. It was his fifth marriage. Meanwhile Guy King, the bride's son, was held in connection with the recent fatal shooting of Lawrence Fields, of Corry, whom, police say, he mistook for Sweitzer.

Corry Lovers Hide In Erie

Aged Love Birds Bill And Coo In Erie, Pa., Near County Jail

(International News Service)
ERIE, Pa., July 16.—Driven from their Corry love nest by angry neighbors who threatened tar and feathers, two "love birds"—Julius Sweitzer, 60, and his 86-year-old bride—honey-mooned in an Erie apartment today under the watchful eye of the law.
The aged lovers rented an apartment across the street from the Erie county jail so that Mrs. Sweitzer could be near her son, Guy King, 64, accused slayer of Lawrence Field, 39. There the five-times married man and his bride hope to enjoy the wedded bliss they were denied at Corry.

Innocent Victim
Field, according to police, was the innocent victim of King's resentment over Sweitzer's affections for his mother. But the bridegroom has no fear of living near his infuriated step-son.

"Mrs. Sweitzer wants to be near her son," he explained after revealing the selection of the apartment near the jail. "She will be able to see him often."
Advised of the disturbance and his mother's forced flight from Corry, King thought "It's bad."

Well, sir, there was a cheerful, and in fact an arrogant, ring in Pat's voice. You know Republicans' voices are changing, they are not whispering any more. You meet one now and he hollers across the street, "Hello, Hello, did you know that our free American institutions are in greater danger today than ever before? Did you know that our constitution is in jeopardy? Did you know they are going to take our Rolls Royce away from us and make us ride in a mere Cadillac?"

TACOMA, Wash., July 16.—The "Mad-Dog" bank bandit who shot and killed police chief Frank H. Chadwick and patrolman Harry Storem, of Puyallup, was not William Mahan, Weyerhaeuser kidnapping case fugitive, as first supposed by officers, federal agents were convinced today.

Department of justice investigators, headed by E. J. Share-The-Wealth Tax Program Brings Worry To President

By EDWARD B. LOCKETT
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, July 16.—There is an obviously increasing sentiment in both houses of congress for postponement of action on share-the-wealth taxes, but such a delay comprises a delicate political problem for President Roosevelt.

The chief executive is in the position of having gone so far that it is extremely hard to withdraw.

Insurgents Cause Trouble

The trouble lies with the insurgents in both senate and house. Administration leaders have given their promise that there will be action on the tax program at the present session. They had to do this to prevent Senator LaFollette (Prog.) of Wisconsin and others, from trying to attach higher income and corporation taxes to the recently passed resolution extending $500,000,000 of emergency taxes for two additional years.

Now the session is wearing into the dog-days, and every additional delay Democratic leaders agree, means more trouble for the new deal. Consequently, efforts are centered this week on clearing the legislative slate of measures which, except for the tax program, will complete the Roosevelt 1935 legislative plans.

Work Out Problems

When this is done, if the leaders can work out their own problems on Capitol Hill, the president is willing for congress to adjourn with out enacting the tax program, on one condition. The president wants a definite agreement upon tax action at a near future time. He wants at least something concrete upon which he can go to the country and promise heavier taxes upon the nation's wealthy.
Senator LaFollette's first reaction was to say, in effect thumbs down. "I don't see how they can go back on their promise now," said LaFollette.

Federal Court Says Processing Tax Law Invalid

Circuit Court Of Appeals At Boston Holds Taxes Are Unconstitutional

CITES TWO GROUNDS AS DECISION BASIS

Government Attorneys To Carry Appeal From Decision To Supreme Court

(BULLETIN)
(International News Service)

BOSTON, July 16.—The cotton textile and other processing taxes under the Agricultural Adjustment Act met the fate of the NRA codes today.

In the federal circuit court of appeals here the processing taxes were declared unconstitutional on two grounds.

One was that congress had no authority to regulate the production of cotton, which is primarily under control of the states.

The other ground was that the law itself is an improper delegation of authority.

Judges Scott Wilson and George F. Morris concurred in the decision. Judge George H. Bingham dissented.

To Appeal Decision

At Washington, government attorneys said a prompt appeal to the United States Supreme Court will be taken.

The circuit court decision, if upheld in the supreme court will save millions of dollars annually to cotton textile manufacturers throughout the country, and particularly in New England.

The processing taxes are those assessed upon manufacturers to compensate farmers and cotton growers for reducing production.

The decision resulted from an appeal taken from a federal district court decision by former United States Senator William M. Butler and James A. MacDonough, receivers for the Hoosac Mills corporation with mills in Fall River, New Bedford and North Adams.

In district court the government has filed a claim with the receivers of this corporation for processing and labor taxes levied under section 9 and 16 of the agricultural adjustment act. The claim amounted in the aggregate to $81,694.28 of which amount $44,057.64 represented processing taxes and interest. Ten suits involving large amounts of processing taxes are now pending.

Suggests Change In Registration Cards

(International News Service)

SCRANTON, Pa., July 16.—Lackawanna county commissioners today requested Secretary of the Commonwealth David L. Lawrence to revise the form of the registration cards to be used in third class cities under the new permanent registration law, claiming the cards as now drawn will last only six and a half years.

The commissioners asserted the cards provided space for only a six and a half year voting record under normal conditions and even less if special elections were held. In six and a half years, the commissioners charged, it will be necessary to re-register the voters at considerable additional expense. They asserted further the form provided by the secretary of the commonwealth will "defeat the very purpose of the act"

PROBE DEATH OF MOVIE GIRL

Hollywood Has Another Mystery

West Virginia Girl's Quest For Movie Fame Ends In Tragedy

HOME TOWN FOLKS MUCH BEWILDERED

(International News Service)

SISTERSVILLE, W. Va., July 16.—The grief-stricken parents of beautiful Julia Graham, the 22-year-old movie "extra" found shot to death in Hollywood, today awaited in bewilderment final developments in their daughter's tragic quest for glory.

Twice before Mr. and Mrs. Harry Graham were shocked by word that Julia, who sang in a Presbyterian church choir here before she ran away a year ago, had tried to kill herself.

Today there remained only Hollywood authorities' findings as to who fired the 45 pistol bullet into Julia's brain as she lay nude in the home of Benjamin F. Reynolds, movie cameraman. But town-folks here were as bewildered as the girl's family, one of the best in Sistersville.

Popular Girl Graham, an employee of the state road commission, and her mother gave her everything they could afford. When she graduated from Sistersville high school in 1933, she was one of the most popular, and prettiest, girl in her class.

Her talent in music and drama received outlet in roles she played with the Drama League and the Sistersville Little theater, while she sang weekly in the Sistersville Presbyterian church. And there was the companionship of an older sister and two younger brothers to dispel any loneliness.

When, at Christmas time a year ago, she drew her small savings from the bank, her family and friends thought she was going to New York. But instead, she answered the lure of Hollywood, tragically unforseen.

It is felt that each county will have to have an organization of its own however, as the projects in each county are worked in conjunction with the officials of each county.

Speculation is also rife as to whether there will be a director for each county to work under the district director. Ready To Install Television Cable

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, July 16.—Erection of the first commercial cable in the United States to transmit television in prospect today, as the federal communications commission took under advisement the application of the American Telephone and Telegraph Co. for the installation of a coaxial cable between New York and Philadelphia.

The telephone company's request is opposed by the independent motion picture producers and the national association of broadcasters.

When the hearing opened the commission was faced by the strange situation of hearing a representative of the western union voice a mild protest over the proposed venture, especially since the telegraph company is a subsidiary of the A. T. & T. The surprise was short lived however, as both the Western Union and the Postal Telegraph company withdrew their objections.

The opposition of the motion picture producers and the broadcasters is based on the assumption that A. T. & T. would be given exclusive television rights, but in seeking the permission is addressing the commission on a plea of experimental privilege.

The cable which the communication company wishes to install is competent to transmit approximately 250 mixed messages simultaneously.

This dash will be made in his own plane with 11 Duce himself at the controls, according to the reports, probably some time in September. He would make a personal inspection of his troops and send them to battle inspired by his presence on the scene.

The "air dash" would be a reply to Emperor Haile Selassie's recent announcement that he himself would lead his Abyssinian troops against invading Italians. It would be Premier Mussolini's second trip to the colonies since becoming dictator of Italy. The first was in April, 1926, when he visited Tripoli.

Plans For War

While Italy was pushing every means at her disposal to rush military preparations for a war with Abyssinia, it was learned 11 Duce expects to fight his war, if it is necessary, with a series of quick thrusts, by land and by air.

Italian military experts are reported to believe such a campaign may have to be spread over a long period, and that if a conquest of Abyssinia is to be made it may take many months.

claimants for first honors in the county at the present time. Corn is five and six feet high or more, in some of the fields.

Dear Pa New:

I received a letter from one of your readers and he asked me why bugs are becoming so plentiful. I might say that man is upsetting the balance of nature, at this time. He has destroyed the forests, has drained the swamps and has driven away the birds, and in doing this has helped insect life to get a strong hold upon growing things. Then again this country has imported insect laden plants to our gardens.

One of the most destroying insects of this country is the Oriental Fruit Moth, which is doing great damage to our peach trees. This fruit moth was brought into this country when the Empress of Japan made a gift of trees to Mrs. Taft when her husband was President of the United States. If there is not more serious thought given to the protection of bird life, bugs will surely devour us.

LOBBIES AND PROPAGANDA

CONGRESS probably deserves more sympathy than it gets. This is especially true at present, with that harassed body in session through summer heat, in a city meant for a winter capital, under the greatest pressure from paid lobbies and organized propaganda that any congress was ever subjected to.

The continuous pulling and hauling from thousands of clever gentlemen swarming in the capitol lobbies and the hotels, plus the deluge of appeals, orders and threats pouring into the lawmakers' offices by mail and wire, are enough to affect any normal statesman. No wonder there is frequent yielding to such overwhelming attack, when it runs mainly in one direction, and no wonder there is occasional rebellion on the part of self-respecting senators and representatives, driving them to the opposite extreme.

This lobbying business is an ancient thing, legitimate in principle, but growing more objectionable as it becomes more highly organized and applies the "heat" more intensively for the purposes of strong minority groups. Obviously there should be some kind of effective correction and control, if it can be worked out.

The propaganda by mail and wire is a newer form of assault, and despite its growing volume should be simpler for congress to defend itself against. It is self-evident that when congress is bombarded with tens of thousands of telegrams in response to a radio appeal, they represent artificial emotion rather than genuine opinion and can be discounted accordingly.

Also that a thousand letters asking a lawmaker to take a stand for or against a certain measure, when written in the same language and obviously inspired from a single source, may be likewise somewhat discounted.

A THIRD PARTY

Results of conferences recently held in the middle west are said to support the contention of those concerned that the time is ripe for the formation of a third political party. Hard times always bring extreme policies to the foreground and gain popular approval of ideas which in normal times would be frowned upon.

Although the time may be as ripe as it ever will be, there remains the traditional difficulty facing third party movements—that their members cannot agree among themselves. It is difficult to find unity and unanimity among the dissatisfied members of the major parties who will pull together in a third party for the election of their candidates.

The "American Commonwealth Political Federation," said to be a mixture of western dissatisfaction, flavored vaguely with Sinclair's EPIC and Harold Loeb's technocracy, was formed at Chicago, while a share-the-wealth organization, influenced by the Louisiana kingfish, has resulted from a meeting at Omaha.

The Republican party has indicated that it will take a definite stand for conservative government, emphasizing the need of a return to greater respect and observance of the provisions of the constitution. The Democratic party, under President Roosevelt, has been distinctly liberal, although its members number a comparatively large conservative element. It will be interesting to see how far the extremely radical third party groups will push the president toward the left. He has already made it difficult for radicals to find popular issues—upon which to form their party—which the president has not already turned to his own advantage.

How far to the left will Mr. Roosevelt, who has antagonized the liberals of his own party and has not succeeded in appeasing the extremists, go in his dash for popularity and another term in the white house?

THE PLODDER

Aesop has given us the priceless fable of the tortoise and the hare in which persistency won out over a flash in the pan.

A good many people may take that story to heart these days. The slow-moving tortoise was a plodder and he had one big idea. It was to take the next step, and the next after that, and so on.

Brer Rabbit had a hundred ideas, all of them good, some of them so very good that he needs must go off at a tangent and investigate. And with what result we know. He lost the race.

The plodder has as hard a row to hoe today as the tortoise of the fable. He is likely to be laughed at and ridiculed; called thick, perhaps, the butt of everybody's wisecracking.

Just the same, one thing that has survived the testing of these days is persistency. The plodder arrives, as of yore. The bounding rabbits are coming in second, as of yore.

People differ as to the value of inspiration and technique. Brer Rabbit had plenty of the first, but the prize-winner was strong on the second.

Blessed is the company of the patient, persistent plodders, for they shall arrive.

And it will be the plodders, rather than the hurry-scurry rabbits, that will pull us out of our depression troubles.

SINGING IN THE HEAT

If everything is relative, as Einstein claims, then it has been quite cool in these parts lately. For at Massaula, in Eritrea, it is 122 degrees in the shade and several Italian soldiers have died from sunstroke.

Massaula is where the Italian peace expedition is unloading its disarmament tracts and a few soldiers, guns and munitions; the latter to be used in case the Ethiopians won't listen to reason.

So the law of compensation still obtains. The Ethiopians would hardly have a chance against a modern nation in possession of poison gas, machine guns, bombers and other murderous instruments of warfare.

But Ethiopia has her peculiar terrain, her tropical diseases, her heat. What turned back the Egyptian Pharaohs, the ancient Romans and modern Italy once may again defeat the Italian generals.

The quickest way to locate lost relatives is to die and leave a nice estate unwilled.

Italy is reported ready to spend $800,000,000 on a war. However, from personal experience, we are inclined to the belief that Italy will put the next war on the cuff, as it did the last one, and let it say there.

DECENT EMPLOYERS MAKE DECENT EMPLOYEES

You may come in daily contact with persons who are having difficulties in learning English. Do you ever offer to assist them? Instead, perhaps, you make sport of their efforts to use our language.

How much finer it would be to give a little time to these persons and teach them some good words—necessary words.

Perhaps you ridicule the idea of making good Americans out of the men working with you, or under you, who have come rather recently from other countries.

What sort of example do they get from meeting you each day?

Is it such that they will feel it honorable to be American?

Perhaps you have a foreign girl employed in your home.

What sort of example do you set her—do you try to be helpful?

Or do you take the selfish position that if you teach this person to speak well it may mean that in the future you will have to pay higher wages to retain her services?

The World AND THE Mud Puddles

LITTLE THINGS OF LIFE

Although the record of converting wastes and nuisances to profit is one upon which Americans pride themselves, hats should be removed to an industrial engineer for a superlative achievement in this field.

A client of his raised mushrooms and fertilized his beds with manure. This practice resulted in the hatching out of vast numbers of flies, disposition of which were extremely difficult.

The engineer recommended the installation of a suction fan which passed both air and flies over some refrigerating coils in such a manner as to chill the flies and then drop them in a dormant state into large milk cans. The installation was made and the flies eliminated as a nuisance.

The canned flies are now shipped to frog raisers. Upon receipt the cans are immersed in a brine solution, which chills the flies and again renders them dormant. In that condition they are fed to the frogs.

The mushroom grower now realizes from the sale of the flies nearly as much as from the sale of mushrooms.

The only accomplishment which may seem worthy to rank with this was that of Professor Elihu Thomson in luring millions of male mosquitoes from the Lynn marshes to their destruction on the walls of an electric furnace by causing the furnace to emit a hum identical in pitch with that of the female mosquito.

Little things but—oh, well, what's the use? The reader may believe it or not.

TODAY'S STORYETTE

The other day up in Ithaca a Cornell grad was showing his wife around the campus. They looked into all the buildings, of course, for neither one of them had been married long enough to want to do something exciting.

In one place they came upon the statue of Venus de Milo and the youthful husband, remembering the crack about "give the little girl a hand" was so pleased with his good memory that he passed it on for the edification of his wife and the dirty looks of several interested bystanders, and by "dirty looks," the above reference means just that.

"Mother," asked the little boy, "when the fire goes out, where does it go?"

"I don't know, dear," answered mother. "You might just as well ask me where your father goes when he goes out."

A woman gave a Christmas party at which pie was served, with the crust very prettily ornamented.

The woman called the cook into the dining room. "Mary," she said, "this crust looks very nice. The guests here want to know how you scalloped it so beautifully. Will you tell them?"

"Yes, ma'am," answered the cook. "With your false teeth, ma'am."

TODAY'S STORYETTE
For several minutes the young man did not speak. His heart was too full. It was enough for him to know that this glorious creature loved him, that she had promised to be his wife.

With a new and delightful sense of ownership, he feasted his eyes upon her beauty, and realized that henceforth it would be his privilege to provide for her welfare and happiness.

His good fortune seemed incredible. Finally he whispered tenderly: "How did it happen, darling, that such a bright, shining angel as yourself fell in love with a dull, stupid fellow like me?"

"Goodness knows," the girl murmured absently, "must have a screw loose somewhere."

Garner Aids President Fights Against Tammany Senate Committee Involved

Central Press
New York Bureau
235 East 45th street

By LESLIE EICHEL
Central Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK, July 16.—The utility holding company battle—behind the scenes—has developed into an intense Roosevelt-Tammany battle. Tammany, of course, always has been pro-private utilities.

The Tammany leader in the house of representatives is John J. O'Connor. He is the head of the powerful rules committee, probably second only to the speaker in power. It was Representative O'Connor who devised the teller vote instead of a record vote on the holding company "death" clause. Thus O'Connor became the chief antagonist of the Roosevelt plan.

Then, when there were cries of pressure from lobbies, it was O'Connor's committee that was authorized to investigate. And O'Connor seemed to be trying to prove the first day or two that it was the Roosevelt administration and not the private utilities that was the "baneful" lobbyist.

Then Vice President Garner stepped upon the scene. The senate had ordered its own inquiry into lobbying. The vice president named Senator Hugo Black of Alabama to head a committee—a committee decidedly liberal.

And the Roosevelt administration sat back with a smile, waiting for the dirt to fly.

TWO FIELDS OF BATTLE

Tammany is fighting the Roosevelt administration on two fronts—in Washington and in New York.

Mayor Fiorello H. La Guardia, Fusionist, who has been getting money for all sorts of municipal projects while Tammany has starved for patronage, desires a municipal power plant for New York.

Tammany controls just enough votes on the Board of Estimate to refuse him the right to get it, even with government money.

Oppose Talks By President

Not All Democratic Strategists In Favor Of President's Radio Addresses

CREDULITY OF PUBLIC WANING

Central Press
Washington Bureau
1900 S Street.
By CHARLES STEWART
Central Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, July 16—Not all Democratic strategists are strongly in favor of the plan to have President Roosevelt deliver a series of radio talks late in August or early in September, either here in Washington, or on his way across the continent and back, if congress adjourns in time to permit him to make his tentative scheduled visit to San Diego.

An element among them is fearful that the proposed series will be widely interpreted as a Democratic recognition that the administration badly needs defending, and these critics do not like to have the party placed in a defensive position.

Besides, they shiver at the suggestion that the president should "go to the country" over the heads of congress and the supreme court relative to policies upon which the lawmakers have not followed him or the high tribunal has reserved him. They recall that President Wilson "went to the country" in the middle of his second term, and the country turned him down so overwhelmingly that it was a dozen years before Aunty Democracy recovered from it.

HAS POPULAR APPEAL

The critics in short, do not like that expression—"going to the country."

True, President Roosevelt, doubtless can "go to the country" much more effectively than President Wilson was able to.

The radio was not sufficiently developed in President Wilson's day to be any help to him. Even if it had been, he had not the personality for a very popular appeal. President Roosevelt has it, to the "nth" power and ideally adapted to the radio, now profusely available.

PROMISE NOT "TAKING"

Nevertheless, the skeptics are worried.

They speak of President Roosevelt as a perfectly wonderful "promiser"—a promiser who can give an assurance that is not fulfilled; give a second that will "take almost as well as the first one; give a third when the second frizzes, that is nearly as convincing as the second, and so on, premonentially.

But they do raise the question: Isn't public credulity, at last, beginning to be worn thin? Democratic pessimists fancy that the last presidential broadcast or two aroused less enthusiasm than was to have been desired, from the administration standpoint.

As a certain Jeffersonian congressman remarked to me, apropos the publicity reaction to the last of these broadcasts: "I'm afraid the 'law of diminishing returns' is starting to assert itself."

MUST PLEASE ALL

Another difficulty is this:

A presidential appeal must reassure business; it must be conservative.

It must satisfy the progressives; it must be radical.

Consumers must be guaranteed reasonable living costs; producers (notably farmers) must be guaranteed much higher prices.

Capital must have everything in its own way, versus capital.

Labor must have everything its own way, versus capital.

There must be promises against inflation and promises in favor of inflation.

ADVICE IS TO STRADDLE

And there are various other issues which a successful presidential appeal must be on both sides of.

In 1932 there was just one issue: Prosperity versus depression!

Now specific pledges must be given.

In such a situation, sound political strategy is to "straddle"—not to "go to the country."

The latter idea horrifies orthodox politicians.

Neighborhood House Report Is Submitted

Miss Christine Butler Tells Of Work At Mission During Month Of June

At a meeting of the Americanization Board on Saturday night at the home of Miss Anna Aiken, East street, over which the vice president, A. A. Webb presided, the following report of the Neighborhood House work for the month of June was submitted by the worker, Miss Christine Butler:

Calls made, 43; books exchanged in library, 174; books and games were received from the M. C. Circle of the Third U. P. church, magazines from Miss Mary Riffer's class, and two boxes of games and toys from Mrs. John Emery.

The beginners' sewing class closed with a party in charge of Miss Mabel Wimer and Mrs. A. A. Webb. Anna Deep, Bertha Sebruno and Rebecca Patrudron were presented with pretty prizes for finishing quilts with patch work made during the winter. Bertha and Pauline Sebruno received Bibles for learning the most Bible verses given to be learned through the winter.

The English class, which proved very successful, closed about the middle of the month. The Sunday School picnic was conducted at Gaston Park although the weather was not good. One hundred six boys and girls were present. The embroidery circle had its picnic at Cascade Park. George Morrow and Paul Butz, furnished the transportation. Games, swimming and a picnic supper were enjoyed. The class is working now on aprons. The Christian Endeavor society is still having meetings.

On each Tuesday evening the prayer group meets. New members number 38. Seventeen home department quarters were given out this month, as well as 5 Bibles and 1 foreign New Testament. Eleven women are using the Moody copyright library. Two thousand tracts, given to the Neighborhood House, written in different foreign languages, are being distributed. "Thirty-Five New Ventures," a booklet by Capt. Reginald Wallis, has been given to the boys and girls.

Democrats are as guilty as Republicans in making capital out of federal relief expenditures.—President Roosevelt.

REV. HAMMOND TO QUIT PULPIT FOR MISSIONARY POST

Leaving Harlansburg Church For South America; Backing Pledged

The Rev. William F. Hammond, young pastor of the Harlansburg Baptist church, today accepted the personal offer on the part of a Chicago group to finance his way as a missionary to far-away Xingu, situated in the upper Amazon valley of South America.

Rev. Hammond received word of the financial pledge in a letter from J. A. Davis, secretary of the Inland South American Missionary Union Inc. He immediately accepted it.

The financial donation, according to the letter, comes from Dr. James M. Gray, president emeritus of Moody Bible Institute, from which Mr. Hammond was graduated not so long ago. Dr. Gray and his associates will provide the funds.

The letter pointed out that missionary duty in Xingu is "arduous and rather dangerous but a field in which no foundation has been laid."

The exact date of the minister's departure is not known but it is expected that he will sail the latter part of August or early September. Rev. Hammond resides at 726 Cleveland avenue.

Utah Murderer Of 3 Saved Third Time From Firing Squad

Prefers Gun To Broken Neck On Gallows

(International News Service)

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah, July 16.—Delbert Green, convicted murderer of his uncle, James Green, has another lease on life.

He was spared from the Utah penitentiary firing squad for the third time by the timely intervention of Gov. Henry H. Blood, who granted a stay of execution pending hearings on an insanity petition.

Green, who also killed his wife and mother-in-law in the family carnage which occurred in 1930, chose death at the hands of a firing squad under provisions of Utah law giving a condemned man the choice of the manner in which the death sentence is to be executed. The alternative is hanging.

Had Green been executed on any of the three occasions scheduled he would have been taken from his cell at the state prison, marched into the prison yard at dawn, strapped to a chair placed against the penitentiary wall and shot by a squad of five men shielded from public view by a screen.

Members of the firing squad are reported to receive $25 each for their grim task. Their identities are known to none but the sheriff of the county in which the crime was committed.

Green's attorneys bared his new appeal for commutation on the plea that the five years imprisonment awaiting final determination of his fate had driven him insane.

H. O. L. C. Payments Must Be Regular

Mortgage Foreclosures Will Follow If Payments Are Not Made

Foreclosure of mortgages by the Home Owners Loan Corporation will follow where the mortgagor fails to make payments on his loan, according to C. P. Cloak, manager of the local office. A total of 568 foreclosures had been instituted throughout the country as of June 30, he said, 156 of them coming in the month of June.

Where home owners are able to pay and do not the foreclosure is prompt, Mr. Cloak said. Of the total of 568, it is said that 165 were instituted for wilful neglect to pay. The others for the most part were caused by death of the mortgagor or by legal complications.

A selected list of foreclosures is noted in a circular sent to the local HOLC office showing where borrowers in Connecticut, New Jersey, New York, Pennsylvania, Ohio and other states have had their mortgages foreclosed.

Payments in the New Castle office are keeping up in good shape, according to Mr. Cloak and not a foreclosure has resulted here.

Governor Signs 31 More Bills

Four Other Measures Are Vetoed In Action Taken
Today

(International News Service)
HARRISBURG, July 16.—Gov. George H. Earle today signed 31 more bills, among them a measure adding 6500 county and township bridges in rural sections to the State highway system and vetoed four others, still leaving 187 bills to be acted upon or before next Monday.

The bridge bill, the governor said, will relieve local authorities of expenses of maintenance and construction and will result in a "real savings" to local taxpayers as well as eliminating divided responsibility.

The governor signed measures allowing counties to aid townships in building or repairing bridges without grand jury or court approval if the amount does not exceed $1500; making it unlawful for school directors to accept "kickbacks" or other gifts from teachers; authorizing a $1500 judgment obtained against one of its employees operating an automobile on which the insurance had lapsed.

He also signed the measure setting up a commission of nine to study means of establishing health insurance for workers and report to the 1937 legislature.

Other Bills Signed
Other bills signed included those outlawing the statute of limitations as a defense in suits of poor districts for maintenance and support against property of persons who were public charges; establishing procedure where attendance of witnesses from other states may be obtained in Pennsylvania criminal trials and the reverse, and providing for credits against future taxes of rebates obtained by taxpayers in appeals.

Also signed were bills providing for fines against magistrates and other officials in Philadelphia, Pittsburgh and third class cities who exact charges from veterans and their widows for making applications for pensions providing that marriages void when contracted can be judicially declared null and void; requiring state owned, state aided and county institutions to report to the department of military affairs the records of any veterans in their care.

The governor signed a State Bar association approved bill limiting the operation of the rule in Shelley's case. He also approved a bill allowing second class townships to enter into contracts with fire organizations in adjacent municipalities for fire protection and a measure granting pensions to principals and superintendents at least 62 years old who left service before July 1, 1919, after at least 20 years work.

The governor approved a series of three bills allowing payment of inheritance and other taxes under protest and without prejudice and a group of four bills making changes in the insurance laws.

The gubernatorial veto fell upon bills requiring two physicians instead of one as at present to approve commitments to state mental institutions an insurance bill which duplicated one of those signed; a highway bill duplicating and a measure appropriating $7,500,000 for relief which was unnecessary because it was covered by other bills.

Public Answers Query On Roads

Suggestions For Eliminations Of Hazards Brings Many Answers

VAN DYKE IS PLEASED WITH INTEREST SHOWN

HARRISBURG, July 16.—More than 100 organizations responded to Secretary of Highways Warren Van Dyke's request for suggestions for needed highway improvement or correction of existing hazards.

From motor clubs, chambers of commerce, business men's clubs, town councils and trade groups the letters came. Many letters listed a dozen projects. The tally, not yet complete, already totals more than 700 individual projects.

Suggestions range from relocation of confusing signs to erection of a new sign or improvement of the sign legend. Grade crossing eliminations, curve easements, widening of roads too narrow to accommodate the present traffic volume, replacement of worn-out macadam or other surface—these and other suggestions were made.

It was the first time a secretary of highways ever had invited the public, through its motor and trade organizations, to sound their voices in highway improvement matters. The response, according to Secretary VanDyke, was "more than gratifying." The suggestions indicate a thoughtful and constructive effort to help, he said.

An analysis of the suggested improvements reveals that many can be adopted at once, especially those dealing with signs. In the aggregate, the suggested improvements would require more funds than the entire grant of Federal money and a large portion of the motor license funds. Several of the projects have already been under consideration by the department.

A thorough study is being made of the projects with a view to fitting as many as possible into the program to be financed by Federal funds. Unfortunately, regulations governing the expenditure of the Federal money preclude a large portion of the suggestions.

Nothing worth while can be accomplished without opposition—Walter Damrosch.

Girl Scout Camp Reservations Are Being Made Rapidly

Older Girl's Unit Now About Filled; Many New Features Are Planned

The registrations for the Girl Scout camp at Camp Phillips continue to come in rapidly, the older girl unit being almost filled. Boating and archery are special features in this unit this year.

Camp will be in progress the first two weeks of August.

This year, for the first time, New Castle has some of her own girls old and experienced enough to be counselors. They will be assistants in units. The Gypsy unit will be headed by Mrs. Eleanor Cox Bradley, assisted by Beatrice Connor. There is just one vacancy here. The Pioneer unit will be headed by Julia Marshall, assisted by Betty Bridenbaugh. Both these scouts are experienced campers. These units are always popular and are the first to fill.

Donna Jean Beall and Edna Raney are counselors now in girl scout camps away from here—the former at Harry's Valley, Pa., and the latter in the Flint, Michigan Girl Scout camp. They will have charge of dramatics in the local camp in two units. They will return with many new ideas and much enthusiasm.

Miss Margaret Morrison of Grove City will be in general charge of handicraft and has many new features planned, such as, the very new aluminum work in bracelets, trays, etc., jute in many colors to make almost anything; wood carving; bur-lap made into knitting bags; coasted sets of an unusual type; leather and reed work, etc. Each unit will have its own handicraft counselor, but Miss Morrison will have supervision. There will be plenty of things which the smaller girls can make as well as the older.

As the hours were from two to four, and the weather was quite warm, Mrs. Ritter had arranged for the little folks to play in the basement of the home, games were enjoyed, and various prizes were won by Janice Mayberry and Jean McFerran, at this time the little ones were invited to the dining room, where a table was beautifully decorated in tones of pink and white, a large birthday cake lighted with seven candles, formed the center piece, and flowers were also used in decoration, the honored guest was recipient of many lovely gifts. Mrs. Ritter was assisted in serving by Mrs. John McFerran.

Seek Final Action On Six Measures In Present Week

Congressional Leaders Are Driving Forces On Major
Projects

ADMIT PROGRAM AMBITIOUS ONE

By EDWARD B. LOCKETT
International News Service Staff
Correspondent

WASHINGTON, July 16.—Congressional leaders drove their forces forward today with a goal of final action on six major legislative measures this week.

Opposition forces scoffed at the objective, and some new deal leaders on Capitol Hill privately admitted the program was an ambitious one.

Of the measures which will get attention, one was already before the senate, another awaited senate consideration after passage in the house, one was in the formative stage in committee, and three were in the final, or conference stage.

When action has been concluded on these important pieces of legislation, the administration will have completed most of its scheduled program for this year.

Measures and Status.

The six measures and their status were:

1—Utility holding company legislation.

This was the subject of controversy between representatives of the senate and house who must work out a bill suitable to both houses. The existing house version simply regulates utility holding companies; the senate draft contains the "death clause" dissolving "unnecessary" companies in seven years. Unless house conferees are willing to insert the "death clause", this bill may never go to the president's desk.

2—Social security legislation.

This measure, one of the major policy bills of the new deal, is also in conference, where it appeared at least temporarily deadlocked.

3—The new banking bill.

This has been favorably reported by the senate banking committee and will be taken up by the senate as soon as the pending business is disposed of. The banking business is not entirely suit President Roosevelt, due to its provisions liberalizing underwriting laws to increase banks' underwriting authority.

4—Tennessee Valley Authority amendments.

These have been passed by both houses, with some differences in the drafts written by the senate and house. However, the provisions embodied appeared to suit everyone concerned, and there probably will be little delay in getting an agreement and approval of both houses.

5—The gold clause resolution.

This measure is in for rough sledding. It was asked for by the president, and denies suits against the government in connection with the devaluation of the dollar. Even Democratic committee members assailed the resolution, and there is some doubt that the senate banking committee will approve it. The house, however, will pass the resolution this week.

6—AAA amendments.

These amendments, embodied in a bill increasing the powers of the secretary of agriculture over the nation's farm policies, are the business now before the senate. Republicans and some Democrats have assailed them as a measure making a "czar" of the secretary, and they probably will be sharply modified before a vote is taken. They have been passed by the house, and despite opposition, will probably be passed with material modifications in the senate this week.

AROUND CITY HALL

Police chronology for 24 hours ending at 3:30 p. m., July 15, four arrests on charges as follows: Drunkenness and suspicion 1. Drunkenness 3.

During their conversation with William Butler yesterday to placing the bond issue on the ballot, councilmen indicated, regardless of outside legal opinions, they will listen to the advice of Solicitor Robert White who has been in the service of the city about 18 years. Should council take the advice of White and an error is made they cannot be charged with the cost. If they secure his advice then do opposite they can be held responsible. This is what they told Mr. Butler in refusing his request on behalf of the Consumers Electric league that the $1,500,000 bond issue question be put on the Primaries ballot.

City authorities are quite perturbed over the breaking of fixtures on the water fountains. Some day some one will be caught at the act and the officials have indicated that there'll be no leniency extended.

Neil Williams, registrar at the city engineer's office, stated today that not many deeds are being presented to him to be recorded on city records. He said there are few sales or transfers being made.

On Court House Hill

Attorney Edwin K. Logan will leave tomorrow on a vacation to be spent in New York and Atlantic City.

County Commissioners were at Enon yesterday looking over a bridge that is in need of repairs to the planking. The Means bridge over the Neshannock, north of this city, which has been undergoing repairs, was thrown open to travel on Monday.

Bids for the equipment necessary for putting the permanent registration law into effect here are being opened by the county commissioners this afternoon. It was necessary to have different books from those which have been in use, also a lot of blanks of various kinds to be used in the commissioners' office. No award has been made of the contract at the time of going to press.

Additional testimony was taken in the case of O. H. Fink and others against Hermine Rung. The case is one growing out of a dispute over the water line at Lakewood beach.

An order was made at a previous hearing fixing the line, but another controversy arose. At today's hearing the defendant was directed to pay costs and keep the land restored in the original order, in good shape. The case was then continued.

After hearing testimony in a description case brought against Robert E. Walsh, Judge Jas. A. Chambers discharged the defendant. It was shown that he has been out of work and unable to earn sufficient to support his family.

In the case of Alfred Bunney against the General American Life Insurance Company, growing out of a dispute over a policy, a motion to extend time for filing an affidavit of defense was granted by the court.

In the estate of the late T. W. English of which his son, Floyd W. English, was executor, a petition was presented in court today asking that the executor be discharged and his bond released. The petition showed that all accounts have been paid in accordance with the provisions of the will. The petition was granted.

In the case of the Lawrence Savings and Trust Company against Celia Rabinovitz, Gilbert E. Long, administrator in the estate of Mark L. Rabinovitz, has asked that certain judgments and revivals be taken within the time specified by the act of assembly. A rule was granted on the Lawrence Savings & Trust Company to show cause, why the petition should not be granted.

In an opinion handed down by Judge R. L. Hildebrand in the case of T. C. Limber against Dorothy Large, defendants motion for judgment notwithstanding the verdict and for a new trial are refused. The case is one growing out of a controversy over some jewelry. Limber claimed that the jewelry which he estimated to be worth $750 was given to him by his brother, William Limber, shortly before the latter's death, in 1919. Plaintiff kept it in his possession until 1927 when he let his wife have it to wear. Mrs. Limber is alleged to have given her daughter, the defendant, Mrs. Dorothy Large, one of the pieces of jewelry, and after her mother's death Mrs. Large had all of the jewelry. She claimed that nothing was said to her about returning the jewelry, and she looked upon it as a gift from her mother, until Limber laid claim to it. The jury which tried the case found a verdict in favor of Limber and against Mrs. Large for $600, which was the value of the jewelry as determined from the evidence by the jury. Mrs. Large then asked for a new trial, which the court refuses.

Can't Take Vote On Bond Issue On September 17

Consumers League Informed
Vote Cannot Be Taken
At Primary Election

Council met with a delegation from the Consumers Electric league yesterday afternoon relative to the league's desire that the city have the question of a bond issue of $1,500,000 for an electric distribution plant. Solicitor White told the delegation which consisted of Howard Kirk, Jr., William H. Butler and James Griffith that the law says that the question of increasing municipal indebtedness cannot be voted on at a primary election.

Although a bill putting the question before the voters has been drafted it has not yet been submitted to council.

NEW 1935 STUDEBAKER CHAMPIONS

QUESTION VALIDITY OF RUSSIAN AGREEMENT

Claim Notice Was Not Given

Congressmen Raise Question As To Legality Of State Department Pact

OFFICIALS CLAIM ACTION WILL STAND

(International News Service) WASHINGTON, July 16.—Legality of the trade agreement which the state department has concluded with Soviet Russia was being questioned in some congressional quarters here today.

The question was being asked whether the agreement was valid under the trade agreement act.

That act provided that before any foreign trade agreement is concluded with any foreign government "reasonable public notice of the intention to negotiate an agreement with such government shall be given in order that any interested person may have an opportunity to present his views to the president or such agency as the president may designate."

No Notice Given

No such notice was given in the case of the Soviet agreement and of this ground the legality of the agreement was being questioned. The state department's response was that no such notice was necessary in the case of the agreement reached with Soviet Russia. Officials contended that the agreement with the Soviets was negotiated under that section of the trade agreement act which directed the president to extend to all nations which do not discriminate against American trade and tariff reductions made in an agreement with any one foreign power.

Under that clause, officials pointed out, Soviet Russia automatically received the benefits of the concessions granted such nations as Brazil, Sweden, Haiti and Belgium.

No Authority

Furthermore, as long as the Soviet government did not discriminate against American trade, the president had no authority to withhold those concessions from the Soviet Union.

Therefore, officials asserted, the promise extracted from the Soviets to purchase $30,000,000 worth of American goods during the next 12 months was in return for something the Soviets already received automatically.

Delaware River Bridge Is Useful

Has Carried Over Ten Million Vehicles Per Year Since Opened Nine Years Ago

(International News Service) PHILADELPHIA, July 16.—The first important traffic link of its kind between southern New Jersey and this city, the Delaware river bridge celebrated its ninth birthday in July.

Open in 1926, it has carried 93,938,076 vehicles of all descriptions, toll reports showed. Motorists and commercial drivers have paid $26,749,549 into its treasury.

More business is done every year, according to the general manager. An increase of 352,888 vehicles was noted for the first, just closed over that ending in 1934.

Philadelphians Have Souvenirs

Over $2,500 In City Scrip Is Still In Hands Of Souvenir Hunters

(International News Service) PHILADELPHIA, July 16.—Graphic reminder of the banking panic days of 1933, more than $2500 in city scrip is still in the hands of Philadelphia residents.

Souvenir hunters are believed to hold this portion of the $8,000,000 in emergency "money" issued by the Philadelphia Clearing House Association during the bank holiday. The rest of the issue has been redeemed by the Clearing House and destroyed. Notes still outstanding are redeemable, Clearing House officials pointed out, but presumably are being kept as mementoes.

Textile Workers Threaten Strike

(International News Service) PHILADELPHIA, July 16.—A warning that 300,000 American textile workers may walk out in a general strike if Congress adjourns without passing legislation for the protection of labor was voiced here today by Francis Gorman, vice president of the United States textile workers of America.

Addressing 200 delegates at the 24th annual convention of the American Federation of Hosiery Workers, Gorman charged "Big Business" is now conspiring to get Congress out of Washington so NRA wage and hour provisions can be rescinded.

Today

Question Of Property.

A Crime Scenario.

Money For Italy.

Selassie Complains.

By ARTHUR BRISBANE

OPINIONS VARY on the income taxing and partial inheritance "confiscating" plans for the new era. In Washington, Rabbi Sidney E. Goldstein, of New York, representing the conference of American rabbis, favors the legislation. Herbert Benjamin, another New Yorker, a Communist, says the whole program is "entirely inadequate to meet the social needs of the masses." He probably is right. "The social needs of the masses" could hardly be satisfied by confiscating everything that everybody in the United States has accumulated.

THE UNITED STATES CHAMBER OF COMMERCE objects to the income and inheritance tax program, calls it confiscation. The question involved seems simple. Does the property of the United States, results of thrift and intelligence, belong to the people that created it, or is it only held in trust by them for public use by those that, for the time being, exercise powers of government?

RUSSIAN CZARS IVAN, Peter and others held that everything in Russia, including the life of every Russian, belonged to the czar; nobody questioned it. Louis the Fourteenth said everything belonged to him; he might temporarily allow it to remain in the hands of his subjects.

The American theory, until recently, was that what a man had acquired without violation of law, usually by working, was his property. He was to contribute his proportionate share of actual, reasonable costs of his government. It was not thought that he was to give half or sixty or ninety per cent of his income during life, and as much as politicians might need after his death to finance new theories of government.

WHETHER THAT old theory is to be eliminated the next two or three years will decide. In any case it will be impossible to satisfy completely Mr. Herbert Benjamin, New York Communist. This is a rich country, but all the property put together wouldn't satisfy "the social needs of the masses" if the masses decide not to work.

LET HOLLYWOOD scenario writers improve on this story that happened in Chicago. A woman, forty-four years old, lost her married daughter. The husband and son-in-law announced plans to marry. The dead wife's mother, according to police, hires for $500 a woman, "former burlesque chorus girl" now living with a Chinese, to murder her son-in-law. The young man was invited to visit his mother-in-law. The burlesque lady was there. "We had two bottles of whiskey," she told the police, "gave him four highballs and he passed out."

THE HIRED murderess then said to the mother-in-law: "Get out and leave the rest to me."

She held cotton soaked in ether under the drunken man's nose, fastened a cord around his neck, pulled it tight "until I was sure he was dead." Then she cut off his legs, which have not been found, put the rest of the body in a trunk, which has been found.

The police believe that the mother-in-law, who paid for the murder, was in love with her son-in-law and wanted him to marry nobody else, or suspected that he had killed her daughter and wanted revenge. They are now hunting for the burlesque actress and the Chinese with whom she lived. That 1935 American crime makes Eugene Sue's "Mysteries of Paris" seem tame.

ITALY IS said to seek a big war loan. Under the Johnson law, no loan can be raised in America. However, money can always be raised for war. Italy could get money here, if our rich men were still rich and not afraid to spend what they have left. Italy could, under ordinary circumstances, sell works of art for 100 millions or 500 millions of dollars and hardly miss them. Michael Angelo's "Moses" would be cheap at $100,000,000, but that most magnificent of all statues, now in the church of "Saint Peter in Chains," is presumably, the property of the Catholic Church.

Italy's government has treasures innumerable that Americans would buy, if they had any money left. The Johnson law says nothing about buying pictures.

HAILE SELASSIE, emperor of Ethiopia, who really thinks he descends from King Solomon and Sheba, and has little idea how unimportant that is, denounces Britain's proposal that he compromise with Italy by giving Mussolini about one-third of his territory.

The emperor forgets that he is dealing with "civilized Christians" that have the taking and dividing habit well established. The partition of Poland, British "acquisitions" in Africa, the Allies' seizure of all German colonies and other seizure of territory, German, Austrian, etc., would make Selassie eager to accept a loss of one-third. If he resorted to war he may lose all. His soldiers, that "lack ammunition, are poor marksmen and wear no shoes," could hardly defeat Italy's steel tanks and airplanes. His real question is: If I let go one-third now, how soon will France and England take the remaining two-thirds?

WHILE DEPLORING war, wise old Britain is making war profits, to keep her hand in. British Board of Trade figures show exports of arms from Britain this past June six times as great as in June, 1934.

YOU REMEMBER that the walrus and the carpenter, both British, having taken the little oysters for a walk, sat and rested on a rock "conveniently low," then:

I weep for you, the walrus said,

I deeply sympathize.

With sobbs and tears he sorted

Out those of the largest size.

Holding his pocket hankerchief

Before his streaming eyes.

That is from memory, but sufficiently accurate to tell how the British walrus feels when business is in sight.

Slum-Clearance Meets Obstacle

Project Confronted With New Delay—Can't Condemn Property

LOUISVILLE CASE DECISION GIVEN

(International News Service) WASHINGTON, July 16.—The Slum-Clearance, low-renting housing division of the PWA already subjected to much criticism in the last two years, as an emergency relief measure because of its slowness in getting started, was up against a new barrier today that promised to further curtail its activities. Affirmation by the U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals at Cincinnati of the "Louisville Case" in which the federal district court held that the government cannot condemn land for such purposes leaves only two avenues of operation open for PWA to pursue in acquiring sites for such projects.

One is by direct purchase of property from the owners, a process that has thus far proved successful in only three of the housing division's seventy-odd projects. Another is by having the state or local government condemn property, then re-sell it to the government.

This process, tried only to acquire title to part of the Williamsburg, Brooklyn, project, is of necessity as slow as the government's own efforts to condemn property for sites—a process that drags through the courts sometimes for months.

Although administrator Harold L. Ickes declared that "there will be no halting of the program," he admitted today that activities will be "somewhat restricted" as a result of the decision.

OUR YESTERDAYS When Stage People Dubbed the "Little Church Around Corner"

Views of the "Little Church Around the Corner".

FEW PERSONS outside of New York City know the real name of the celebrated church of marriages, the "Little Church Around the Corner," which is situated at 6 East 29th street, in the metropolis. It is known officially as the Church of the Transfiguration, a Protestant Episcopal church, and until 1870 it was not known by any other name. It won its now-famous title as a result of the death of George Holland, a popular comedian, in that year. When relatives sought to secure a pastor to perform the burial services, one preacher told them he would be unable to do so because the dead man had been an actor. This clergyman, however, suggested that "there is a little church around the corner that will, perhaps, permit the service." The permission of the pastor of that church was obtained, and the burial service was conducted there. As a result of the incident, the Church of the Transfiguration since has been known as the "Little Church Around the Corner." It soon became the religious center for theatrical people, and often is called the actor's church.

Two Army Officers Jump From Blazing Plane Over Arizona

(International News Service) KINGMAN, Ariz., July 16.—Major George E. Leach, chief of the National Guard Bureau of the United States Army, was safe today after a thrilling parachute leap of 10,000 feet from a blazing plane.

The engine on the plane, piloted by Capt. C. M. Cummings, burst into flames. Cummings said he immediately suggested that Gen. Leach take to his parachute and the high officer climbed out of his cockpit and jumped.

After battling the flames for about 10 miles, Cummings also baled out, landed safely and walked into Seligman where he spread the word and a search was organized for Gen. Leach.

New York Woman Drowns Her Baby

(International News Service) NEW YORK, July 16.—"I put him in the tub because my husband would be mad. I went to Coney Island Sunday and to the movies yesterday so I wouldn't think of him."

Apathetically, 19-year-old Mrs. Lillian Parisi thus explained why she had failed to report the death of her four months old baby, Joseph, three days ago. She was under arrest for failure to make the report.

Belfast Streets Are Barricaded

(International News Service) BELFAST, July 16.—All streets in the areas of Belfast troubled with Catholic-Protestant disturbances were barricaded today and police and military guards denied entrance to all but those with special permission.

Random shooting continued into today, and in some districts those venturing out did so at the risk of their lives. Snipers were hidden in many houses, and several ruthless gangs were at large bent on burning the homes of rival faction members. A 17 year old youth was shot in the stomach in a renewed outburst of shooting last night in the Millfield area.

(International News Service) PORTSMOUTH, England, July 16.—King George V, standing at salute on the quarter deck of his palatial 4,700 ton yacht Victoria and Albert, this afternoon reviewed 160 of his warships concentrated off Spithead.

It was the most imposing naval spectacle seen in the British waters for 21 years and brought virtually to an end the grandiose celebrations which for the last three months have marked the 70 year old monarch's silver jubilee as a ruler.

More than a quarter of a million people in carnival mood witnessed from ship and shore the royal review of the combined home, Mediterranean, and reserve fleets, manned by 50,000 officers and men.

Woman Confesses Watching Murder Of Son-In-Law

Taken To Swamp Where Disembodied Body Of Man Was Found

(International News Service) CHICAGO, July 16.—Mrs. Blanche Dunkel has confessed to police that she stood by and watched the garrotting and dismemberment of her son-in-law Ervin Lang, it was reported today.

She had previously told police she paid Mrs. Evelyn Smith, a former burlesque dancer, $100 to do away with the young grocer's clerk. Mrs. Smith and her Chinese husband, Harry Jung, are the object of an intensive police search.

According to the report Mrs. Dunkel broke down after being taken to the swamp near Hammond, Ind., where the body of her son-in-law was found July 6, and after being shown a gruesome photograph of the dismembered body, and admitted she watched while the young man was strangled with a piece of rope and his legs hacked from his body.

The strange woman, who at 42 fell in love with the 28-year-old husband of her dead daughter and arranged his death rather than lose him to a younger woman whom he planned to marry, was reported near collapse, her iron composure and selflessness broken following her gruesome admission.

Capt. Daniel Gilbert, chief investigator for the state's attorney, denied however, that she had made any further admissions. But it was known she had been taken to the swamp which had been Lang's lonely bier for three days. And it was also learned she was to be subjected to the lie detector today.

Max Schmeling Is Sought After For Bout Here

Madison Square Garden Would Like To Sign Schmeling For Either Baer Or Louis

By DAVIS J. WALSH
International News Service
Sports Editor
NEW YORK, July 16.—Since everybody seems to be taking down his shoulder straps and getting confidential about the heavyweight prize fight business, I wonder if I couldn't join the party this morning with a few derogatory remarks about as many of those concerned as I can conveniently disparage at one sitting.

I would like to say, first, that Madison Square Garden, in announcing that Joe Jacobs had signed for Max Schmeling to meet Max Baer in September, has no more assurance for this statement than did promoter Mike Jacobs with his previous declaration that Joe Jacobs had signed for Schmeling to meet Joe Louis in September. Briefly and frankly and to the point, the only man who can sign for Max Schmeling to do anything is Max Schmeling.

Expensive Mission
Promoter Jacobs should know that by this time, so should Madison Square Garden. The former, I understand, has already "underwritten" manager Jacobs on his trips abroad to the amount of $3,500 and all he has got so far is a picture post card of the Rhine by moonlight. The Garden has gone even further. It is said to have invested $4,500 in the same cause—but with slightly less effect.

I sent manager Jacobs abroad twice in the last six months, once on his promise to get Schmeling for Steve Hamas and again to produce the fighter head for a title fight with Baer in June. But each time manager Jacobs was singularly unsuccessful. The only thing he brought back was a change of linen. That's why promoter Jacobs was trying to get Schmeling personally on the trans-Atlantic telephone from Chicago last night. He knew that Schmeling alone could give the answer and at the same time, he realized that nobody yet had received a direct word from the fighter.

Jacobs In Wrong
Probably promoter Jacobs should have taken this precaution before announcing his Schmeling-Louis fight, but no doubt he felt that he was in the clear. He had received a cable from manager Jacobs, stating that Schmeling had accepted the Louis match via the telephone but insisted on an extra 3 per cent and that a guarantee of $150,000 be posted in a German bank, promoter Jacobs' reply was that the extra percentage was Kosher but, owing to the fact that the money that is posted in Germany can be considered permanently posted. He would have to insist upon an American bank.

Hearing no more, he assumed that everything was just splendid and went ahead with his announcement. I greatly suspect now that the promotion behind the proposed Schmeling-Louis fight never fully expected to see Schmeling in the same ring with the colored man.

Therefore, the general tendency is to feel that the Garden may have some basis of fact for announcing the following: that Baer signed last Friday night for Schmeling and that Schmeling, through Joe Jacobs, signed for Baer before Jacobs sailed for Germany; that the winner will be sent right along to a title fight next year with James J. Braddock, if possible.

Giants Lose To Cincinnati

Reds Chase Schumacher For First Time In 15 Starts, Cardinals Win

CHICAGO CUBS
KEEP UP STREAK

By PAT ROBINSON
International News Service
Sports Writer
NEW YORK, July 16.—Hal Schumacher today is the pitcher who went to the well once to often.

Never, until yesterday, had Prince Hal of the Giants, lost a game to the Reds since he came into the National League. He had beaten them 14 times. But the law of averages, Lady Luck and the Reds all caught up with him at the same time and the result was a 13 to 6 trouncing.

In winning, the Reds not only developed their own winning streak to six straight, but they stopped Hal's at eleven. Prince Hal had no excuses. The Giants put him in front three times and each time he blew the lead. The Giants made 14 hits, including Mel Ott's 20th and Hank Leiber's 14th homer, but the Reds offset this by wallpopping Schumacher, Hubbell and Chagnon for 17 rebounding blows.

Giants Crack
Two weeks ago the Giants' big five was the boast of New York and the toast of the National League. Today, with the injured Fitzsimmons and Castanman on the sidelines, it is doubtful if the remaining three—Schumacher, Hubbell and Parmelee—in their present form are as good as the Cardinal trio—Dizzy and Paul Dean and the rejuvenated Hallahan.

The defeat of the Giants cut their lead to five games as the Cardinals slaughtered the Braves 13 to 6.

And speaking of winning streaks, the Cards have now won 11 in a row and with not much opposition in sight until the Giants arrive, figure to extend their string. Dizzy Dean will not have many easier games to win than he had in hanging up his 15th victory at the expense of the Braves.

Chicago Cubs Win
The Cubs—also boasting a little winning streak of eight games—had to travel 16 innings to get a 2 to 1 decision over the Phillies. Walters and French hooked up in a nice duel for nine heats but neither was around at the finish. Pezullo was charged with the defeat and Warnke was credited with the victory.

The only game in the American League produced a case of retribution when Lynn Lary, the banjo hitter recently traded to the Browns by the Senators, came through with a hit to give the Browns a 2 to 1 decision over the Senators in 11 innings. Andrews and Whitehill went the route.

Pollard Gains Name For Boxing In Navy

U. S. S. Arizona Paper Tells Of Latest Fight; Future Is Bright

I. H. "Snub" Pollard Jr., a New Castle sailor serving aboard the U. S. S. Arizona again has won prominent mention for his boxing skill in the ship's newspaper "At Em Arizona."

The story tells of Pollard's victory over Gilbert Lopez, hard hitting Mexican, at the Westside auditorium, in Long Beach, Cal. recently. "Though Pollard, a bantam weight of the 5th division won did not reach the top in the fleet bouts last year, he seems a sure winner of the big belt this year" the article said. "At the pace he is going now he should bowl over all the other small boys of the fleet and bring another championship to the Arizona."

The navy man is the son of Mr. and Mrs. I. H. Pollard, 15 North Front street.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS' LAND

Jack Doyle, the Irish heavyweight knocked out Jack Redmond of Indianapolis, in the fourth round of a six round bout at Newark N. J. last night. The knockout came 57 seconds after the fourth bell. After losing the first three rounds and during which he looked like a novice, Doyle put Redmond on the floor for a count of five. Redmond got up and received a punch on the chin that knocked him through the ropes and he was counted out. Another fight in which there was interest saw Leroy Haynes of Los Angeles score a technical knockout over Tony Cancella, rugged Florida brawler, in three rounds. He was helpless on his feet when the referee stopped the fight.

The question arises: What has happened to the old-time cracker-barrel philosopher who used to whistle on boxwood at the country store? The New Deal probably has him cutting paper dolls.

Expect Fandom To Crowd Field

Black Strengthens A. S. & T. P. For McCullough Benefit Game

VISITING TEAM IS YOUNGSTOWN CHAMPS

Only 48 hours remain until baseball fandom flocks to Centennial field to witness the A. S. & T. P. Youngstown in a benefit game for Sankey McCullough, infielder, who underwent a severe operation recently which incapacitated him for the remainder of the season. The game will start at 6 p. m. Thursday. The doors will be opened shortly after 5 p. m.

The teams are probably the fastest in this section of the country. The A. S. & T. P. not only leads the Lawrence county league, but Sunday defeated the Allegheny Grays. The defeat was the first handed the colored boys this season and as the Civics are the champions of Youngstown baseball fandom is looking forward to a great game. In fact, few will be surprised if the crowd totals 5,000 fans.

Baseball crowds for a classic here are not out of the ordinary. Last season some of the crowds totalled thousands and a year previous as many as 5,000 gathered at Centennial field and on the Lee avenue field to watch local teams. With the best club in New Castle opposed to the fastest team from Youngstown indications point to fandom filling the park.

One of the features of the game will be Paul McCullough. In the county league he hurled for Mahoning, but he is also on the roster of the Youngstown champs and when he was asked if he would take the hill for the Ohioans against a New Castle team, McCullough promptly agreed because he realizes that with him on the mound trying the fans will turn out to see him oppose Gunnett.

Gunnett, a regular hurler, and a mighty good sandlotter, too, will be sent to oppose McCullough. Manager Alec Black of the Tin Mill has told Gunnett to rest up for the coming classic and as few hurlers hereabouts have been able to beat McCullough when he is in form, he is going to make the most of the opportunity that greets him Thursday.

As Byak Coates, Lenhart and Gormel will be unable to go off their jobs Thursday, Manager Black has secured the services of Miller and Neff from Ellwood, and Orlando and Baker from Mahoning. Miller is a pitcher. Neff an outfielder, while Orlando and Baker have been playing consistent infield ball with the Seventh Ward team. He has also signed Speedy Myers of Carbon for infield duty.

NEW YORK, July 16.—The stock market turned reactionary after a firm start today despite strength in special issues.

There was little in the business news to influence the course of the market. The upturn in steel operations lost its effect, as did indications that railroad traffic had recovered. Outside markets did little. Grains improved further after yesterday's upturn but other commodities marked time. The bond market was steady. Gold currencies were again strong in foreign exchange.

Strength was shown from the start in the baking issues under the leadership of National Biscuit, reflecting the decisions against the AAA processing taxes. Packard was unusually strong and active in the motors, and Union Pacific spurred in the rails.

Profit-taking was persistent in General Motors and Chrysler, and both gave ground. U. S. Steel lost its recent buoyancy and weighed down the other steel shares.

Rails generally were easy with Atchafalyp and lowered-priced carrier shares under some pressure. Oils were pressed for sale on nervousness over the price situation.

Westinghouse, a recent bull favorite, gave up a point in short order, but General Electric was steady. American Telephone firmed up after yesterday's late downturn, but other utilities were inclined to mark time to await the outcome of the senate-house conference over the holding company bill.

The aviation list sold under the previous close, led by Douglas and United Aircraft. Traders took profits in the farm stocks but declined such issues as International Harvester and Montgomery Ward were small.

DuPont lost further ground on the decline in its first half earnings from a year ago. American Can advanced after earlier firmness. National Distillers slipped in the alcohol, and American Tobacco B was firm.

Admits Marrying Ryan For Fortune

"Wife Told Him To Go And Get A Sweetheart For His Loving" Paper Claims

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, July 16.—Young Glendenin Ryan, whose marriage to the Countess Marie von Wurmb-Stuppach ended with a supreme court annulment, was told by his beautiful bride to "go get himself a sweetheart if he wanted any loving," the New York Evening Journal said today in an exclusive story.

"She confessed to her husband that she had been the mistress of at least three European lovers before she came to this country," the Journal said. "Yet, she intended to be a wife to him in name only."

"Marie informed him, Ryan testified in the secret proceedings to annul his marriage, that she married him only for his money."

"She said she intended to be free to live her own life. Maybe some day they would have children. She would discuss that later with him. In the meantime she had her permission to have love affairs with other women."

"And while the countess was handing young Ryan this jolt, her mother was writing her from Vienna, congratulating her on her cleverness in landing a rich husband and advising her to have a baby as soon as possible. That was one sure way, the mother wrote, to make the marriage stick."

Police May Get Day Off Each Week

Firemen Will Probably Get Day Off Beginning Next January

Probabilities are that the city police will receive a day off in every seven, commencing about the middle of September, as all of the police will have had their vacations by that time. The legislature passed a bill which was signed by the governor making it possible for a policeman to have a day's rest every week. Similar action was taken in behalf of a fireman's bill. The police can double beats when one is absent from duty but there are only sufficient firemen to man the apparatus in their department. Seven new firemen will be necessary next year if the day's rest is granted each fireman each week. It has been indicated the law will be complied with.

However, an unexpected treat was in store for this group, when Mrs. Ferver directed the caravan of cars to Slippery Rock where Dr. Waldron, college professor of astronomy who took charge. He escorted them to the hilltops to observe the stars through a telescope which proved most interesting. He explained many facts and details that cannot be seen with the naked eye.

Germany Must Conclude New Trade Treaty

United States Serves Notice New Trade Agreement Must Be Reached

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, July 16.—The United States has informed Germany that it will be deprived of the benefits of trade concessions granted other nations unless the German government is prepared to conclude a new most-favored-nation treaty with this country.

This notice, it was learned today, was served by Secretary of State Cordell Hull on German Ambassador Hans Luther before the latter's departure for Berlin. Hull formally suggested that the German envoy urge his government to consider conclusion of a new trade agreement with the United States in conformity with the most-favored-nation doctrine.

The German envoy was said to understand that the new agreement must be in accord with the principle that Germany give to this nation the same treatment it extends to any other. The ambassador was informed that if Germany refuses, the concessions which it now receives under the most-favored-nation treaty with this country will be withdrawn after October 15, when that treaty expires.

Small Fire In Tower Of London

(International News Service)
LONDON, July 16.—Red-coated guards armed with rifles hurriedly took posts around the incalculable wealth of the crown jewels of Britain today when fire broke out in a section of the centuries-old tower of London.

An electric cable in Devereux tower, overlooking the plot where Anne Boleyn was beheaded, fused, starting a blaze that sent puffs of smoke streaming past the window that witnessed the suffocation of the two little princes of tragic history.

A bugler in the parade square blared out the alarm, calling forth the Royal guards and the romantically-uniformed "beefeaters" to protect the jewels, taken from the tower only on coronation occasions.

MOON SHOW SEEN AT CAMP PHILLIPS

Tired Scouts Remain Up To View Eclipse; First Week Opens

(Special To The News)
CAMP JOHN M. PHILLIPS, July 16.—Troop directed by Assistant Scoutmaster Jack Court, started the ball rolling Monday evening at Camp Phillips by conducting the first campfire program. This program was attended by over 100 scouts, the troop being further augmented by visitors and leaders.

The program consisted of songs by the group and yams by various individual boys. An installment story was begun which will be continued at other campfires.

Late Monday night in spite of the fact that it was long after taps, most of the boys remained awake long enough to view the eclipse from the vantage point of the open-sided huts. When the spectacle had reached its totality, most of the boys had dropped off to sleep.

The new field stoves, which were recently installed for the use of the various hut stockades, are a fine success and the many stews, roasts, and boiled dinners are turned out by the boys under the strict supervision of their leaders.

This former week link in troop camping is constantly becoming more powerful. Troop V-18 and V-37 particularly are conducting a highly efficient kitchen service.

A feature stressed by Scoutmaster Billotte of Troop 4 is woodcraft. Mr. Billotte, who has practiced this craft from the Arctic to the tropics, is well-fitted for this activity.

The activities on the waterfront are well under way, the boys having enjoyed swims twice a day since camp opened. A large class in life saving has been organized and is progressing successfully under swimming instructor Howard.

The non-swimmers are gradually advancing into the beginners class. A water polo game has been scheduled for Wednesday, the campers having challenged the staff. The boating activities have been scheduled so that the various troops receive their full allotment of instruction.

At 9:30 in the evening bugle calls from all over the camp grounds mingled together in accompaniment to the nodding heads of the boys and another day of camping at Camp Phillips closed.

Annuls Marriage Of Wealthy New Yorker And Fortune Hunter

Justice Cotillo Lashes Wealthy Americans Who Marry Foreigners With Titles

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, July 16.—Lashing at foreign adventurers and adventurers in a vitriolic opinion, supreme court justice Salvatore A. Cotillo today annulled the marriage of wealthy hunting bride, Countess Marie von Wurmb-Stuppach.

Not content with his attack on Countess Marie as a "shrewd and cunning" plotter, justice Cotillo turned his fire on the two marriages contracted by Barbara Hutton, the five and ten heiress, with two foreign noblemen.

The justice asserted that Ryan, who brought the annulment suit, had married the pretty countess at a time when she was still infatuated with another, Count Vladimir Mittrowsky, who was not mentioned by name in the opinion.

Not All Dealers Have Certificates For Cigaret Taxes

No Arrests Expected To Be Made, Manufacturers Unable To Fill Stamp Orders

(International News Service)
HARRISBURG, July 16.—No legal action has been taken by the State Department of Revenue against cigarette retailers who have been unable to procure the new $1 registration certificates which went into effect yesterday with the new two cent relief tax on cigarettes, it was learned today.

Faced with a huge shortage of tax stamps, due to the manufacturer's inability to produce them in time, the department met a similar problem in the registration of retailers.

The department has been working day and night to meet the demand for certificates but has been unable yet to meet all requests.

As a result many dealers were expected to continue selling cigarettes although technically subjecting themselves to arrest. It was learned the revenue department has decided to refrain from making arrests of uncertificated dealers if they have already made their applications for registration. It was believed a week's time will be required to register all dealers in the state.

Maj. Lynn G. Adams, superintendent of state police, and Capt. Wilson Price, head of the state highway patrol, both said no orders have reached them to make arrests and none were expected.

Mr. and Mrs. Jay Cotton and family, spent the week end with Mrs. Ruth Robinson at Belvedere. They were also guests of Mr. and Mrs. John Robinson.

LITTLE ORPHAN ANNIE: Few Are Chosen

May Force Vote On Adjournment

Democratic Leaders Faced
With Threat To Vote On Adjournment

MEMBER THINKS
SESSION SHOULD END

By WILLIAM S. NEAL
International News Service Staff
Correspondent

WASHINGTON, July 16.—A threat to force a house vote on the question of adjournment confronted Democratic leaders today as they fought for action on the Roosevelt legislative program.

Sentiment for adjournment—with postponement of action on the president's tax program until next fall or winter—admittedly was increasing among the rank and file of congress.

Rep. Braswell Deen (D) of Georgia, whose demand on the house floor for adjournment, was greeted with applause, said he will introduce a privileged resolution today and force a vote on the question.

"I think we ought to quit for the good of the country and for the good of members," said Deen. "There are 6 members of the house sick. If his session keeps on several members will suffer fatal illness."

"We all want to get through, but don't want to just turn tail and run," said acting Democratic leader Taylor (D) of Colorado.

Find Death From Bullets Instead Of Planned Marriage

Officers Believe Double Crime
Is Case Of Murder
And Suicide

(International News Service)
KITCHENER, Ont., July 16—

Working on a theory of murder and suicide, police today investigated the double killing of 19 year old Kathleen Alice Britton and her 24 year old fiancée, Clarence Johannas, who were found dead in the home of the prospective bridegroom with shot-gun shells beside the bodies. There will be an inquest Thursday.

A note found on Johannas' body on which both his and the girl's name appeared, indicated the couple may have agreed to end their lives because they were penniless. Their bodies were found a few hours before they were to have been married. The note said:

"To our friends of Kitchener: Between Alice Britton and Clarence Johannas, we thought the matter over, and thought this is the best way to go out by ourselves into the land of rest."

"I love her and she loves me. We are both broke and can not make ends meet. So good bye. Please do not cry over us for it will do no good. Love to Mr. and Mrs. William Britton and Mr. and Mrs. William Johannas."

At 6:00 o'clock, a delicious picnic dinner was served in the grove. Boat riding featured the evening hours. Success of the event was due to the efforts of the following committee: Mrs. Rex. Hughes, F. W. Burdette and Eric Olson.

Annette Smiles As Bathing Suits Shrink

This "daring" swimming costume, minus the elaborate headdress, brought about Annette Kellerman's arrest in Boston in 1910.

Annette Kellerman still can wear a swimming suit! This is a 1935 model.

By DINAH MARGOLIN
Central Press Correspondent
BOSTON, July 16—Twenty-five years ago this summer Annette Kellerman, perennial mermaid was arrested in Boston for wearing a bathing suit that did not cover her knees. Today, on that very same beach she applauded the fast shrinking beach garments of the 1935 water nymph.

"They are practically perfect," she exclaimed. "While I'm not a nudist, I've always preached the importance of caring for the female figure. The modern bathing suit, unlike the old-time skirts, does not hide flaws. Thus to look well in the scanty suit a girl has to give considerable thought to keeping fit physically. And that is all to the good."

There is nothing like vanity to drive a woman. It, as they say, figures never lie, certainly those garbed in the mode of the moment haven't a chance to.

Keeps Her Youth
Today, Miss Kellerman's figure is as good as it was 20 years ago. She will probably not see 45 again, but she looks as if she were in her thirties. When she has no theater engagements, she rises at eight in the morning and breakfasts on fruit juice and toast. She never eats meat and has had only a half dozen cocktails in her life.

Wherever she goes Annette always carries with her a small radio and a phonograph. She prefers to exercise to the rhythm of music. This requires about an hour. She advises women to take more exercise "from the waist up."

"Too many exercises," she says, "go in for kicking and that sort of thing. Breathing and waist bending are very important. And swimming is invaluable."

The "Diving Venus" of the old New York Hippodrome days has become an internationalist. She now speaks five languages and has spent a great deal of time in France, Germany, and her homeland, Australia.

Street Of Cafes In Berlin Wrecked By Nazi Troopers

One Of Worst Anti-Semitic
Raids In Germany In Recent Months Staged

(International News Service)
BERLIN, July 16—The Kurfurstendamm, Berlin's fashionable street of cafes, was a badly wrecked avenue of shattered glass and broken doors today following one of the worst anti-semitic riots Germany has seen in recent months.

Victims of the rioting, Jews who happened to be anywhere near the district, last night, nursed injuries. Many of them serious, in their homes. Scores of Jews were savagely beaten by an organized band of young Nazi, many of them in storm troop uniforms, and by a few girl Nazis.

The trouble was traced back to Sunday night's showing of an anti-Jewish motion picture at a leading West End theatre, when Jews hissed from the audience. The Nazi press took note of the incident, warning Jews not to repeat such a demonstration.

Promised arrests have failed to materialize as one clue after another proves valueless.

Despite prolonged questioning of the victim's husband, Justice of the Peace James J. Westwood of McKee's Rocks, his daughter and Constable Tim Drexler, no new leads were developed. Westwood and Drexler were at a roadhouse party on the night of the murder.

Aged Parents To Plead For Leniency For Doomed Son

(International News Service)
MIDDLEBURG, Pa., July 16.—

Aged and impoverished, the grief-stricken parents of Sherman L. Strawser set out for Harrisburg today in a borrowed automobile to plead with Gov. George H. Earle that their son's life be spared for the slaying of his former employer, Charles E. Gable, a farmer, which he now blames on another man.

While his parents sought mercy for him, Strawser, 29-year-old farmhand doomed to die next Sunday after midnight, attempted to find comfort in the Bible. Their hope was based on Strawser's newest story, the third since his arrest and sentence. He told his parents he had withheld it previously because he had been threatened with death if he "squealed."

Former Judge Miles I. Potter, Strawser's counsel, termed the newest version of the slaying "absurd," withdrew from the case and referred the doomed man's parents to Gov. Ermer Earle.

Strawser was accused of killing Gable to obtain money for a wedding dress for his sweetheart, Zella Gill, 16, and to pay her father's moonshining fine and release him from jail. The pardon board, after a lengthy investigation, declined to extend clemency.

WILL HEAR WOMAN'S CLAIM ON STATE

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, July 16.—President Judge Thomas P. Trimble today had set September 9 as the date for hearing on the claim of Martha Aber, Jefferson county, for a widow's share of the $1421,000 estate of the late F. J. Osterling, Pittsburgh architect.

Judge Edward C. Chalfant will preside at the hearing, postponed several weeks ago to permit the appearance of Attorney General Charles J. Margiotti, of counsel for Miss Aber.

Osterling left the woman $10,000 in his will. She claims, however, she married Osterling in August, 1927, in Pittsburgh, and is entitled to half the estate.

It is estimated that there is one albino to every 10,000 of population throughout the world.
